

MISS CLARK WILL STAY IN PICTURES

Dainty Star Renews Her Contract with Famous Players Film Company.

Contrary to the rumors that have constantly found their way into print for the last few weeks to the effect that Marguerite Clark, the internationally popular Famous Players star, would abandon the screen and return to the stage, it is announced that Miss Clark has just renewed her contract with the Famous Players.

The heroine was portrayed by Muriel Martin Harvey, daughter of the famous English actor.

Dorothy Dalton boasts one accomplishment that is not possessed by her many screen sisters—she is a proficient wrestler. During the years that she was being educated in a Chicago convent, she indulged daily in vigorous exercises on the matted floor of the gymnasium and not infrequently now does she engage in friendly tilt with the more robust of her associates.

The feature of the Grand today is

MARGUERITE CLARK, FAMOUS PLAYERS-PARAMOUNT STAR

Miss Clark would return to the stage under the management of Charles Dillingham. So universal was the credence gained by this rumor that exhibitors in the West and middle West actually advertised Miss Clark's latest picture, "Little Lady Elfen," as her farewell appearance on the screen. Valued articles have been printed in many motion picture periodicals and in the Photoplay sections of the daily newspapers, and the Famous Players have been flooded with requests for definite information concerning the future activities of the little star.

"The Love Thief," which had a run in London, is to be produced on this side by the Shuberts.

Owing to the fact that Emily Stevens, the distinguished dramatic film star, will resume her stage engagement within three weeks, which will take her to Chicago, Director George D. Baker has been obliged to produce the five-part feature, "The Wager," in exactly two weeks and four days. Miss Stevens will open the season of 1916-17 in the play, "The Unchastened Woman," which was counted the biggest success of the season last year on Broadway.

The Bijou theater today is a Big Four production in six acts called "That Sort," in which Warda Howard has the leading role. Helen Gibson appears in a thrilling railroad drama entitled "Saving the Road," and one reel of a Heine and Louis slapstick comedy is also shown.

This week Cyril Maude appeared in the title role of "Jeff," a comedy founded on the humorous stories of Canadian life by Stephen Leacock.

year 1912, was $140,000,000. These importations broke the farmers' markets all over the country. Wheat in American markets declined about fifteen cents per bushel; corn declined about ten cents per bushel; cattle and sheep declined in price. The Democratic theory was that reduced tariff duties on farm products would bring foreign farm products into our markets to force down prices to the consumer. Foreign products did come and the price to the farmers was forced down. But the prices of food products to the consumer were not reduced. The only beneficiaries of the reduction were the foreigners who shipped the products, and the importers and market manipulators who received them. They did not sell more cheaply to the consumer but their margin of profit was greater. While prices of live stock to the farmer declined, prices of meat to the consumer steadily advanced. The high cost of living continued and has increased ever since.

The law did disturb business but the president declared it was only a "psychological condition." The Underwood law did not produce revenue enough to pay the expenses of the government, and a Democratic Congress was compelled to pass the stamp tax act, in time of peace, as a makeshift supplement to the law. Our foreign trade has increased but the increase has been in munitions and supplies for the warring European nations. What will happen when peace is declared in Europe and the war orders cease? The Democrats, facing now the situation which every one knows will exist at the close of the European war, have attempted to quiet the fears of the farmers and the business world by their so-called tariff board, costing $300,000 annually. The question is not what a tariff board may recommend, but whether a Congress elected next November believes in protecting American industries, or making a tariff for revenue only. Intelligent and patriotic voters everywhere have made up their minds to repudiate the incompetent and un-American administration of our affairs.

FIRST SERMON.

The Rev. J. T. Gibbons, new pastor of the African Methodist Episcopal church, who came here from Huntington, will preach his first sermon at the church Sunday morning. Dr. French Hurley, the retiring pastor, went Saturday to his new charge in Wheeling to preach Sunday.

ELIHU ROOT'S INDICTMENTS OF DEMOCRATIC POLICIES

Never has it been so easy for America to keep out of war by doing nothing as it has been during the great conflict now raging in the old world.

When the old, warring world shall have had its Apomattox and the powers are set free each to pursue its own purposes, the time will come when America will need wisdom and character and power to maintain its peace and at the same time to maintain its rights.

Peace is not maintained by the surrender of just rights, for the presumption of impunity begotten of weak submission to aggression breeds further and still further aggression.

until at last a humiliated and outraged people plunges into a war which ought to have been wholly unnecessary.

Peace is maintained by the assertion of just rights, calmly, dispassionately, reasonably, accompanied by a knowledge of power behind the assertion and a conviction in the minds of others that there is behind the power and courage and resolution certain to use the power if need be in defense of the right.

The Wilson administration has had the opportunity to exhibit its character to the world and it has failed to carry conviction or to command respect.

COMMITTEES CHOSEN FOR HUGHES MEETING

And It is Officially Decided That He Speak near the Railway Station.

The headquarters hall of the Harrison County Hughes Republican Club on Second street was not large enough to accommodate the large turnout of members at the meeting of the club Friday night. Many members were unable to gain access to the crowded hall, but showed their great interest in the club by remaining around the door and receiving the news of the work going on inside as it was passed out to them.

Harry C. Hoffman, president, called the club to order promptly at 8 o'clock, and Guy H. Burnside, secretary, then read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved. As the principal object of the meeting was to make arrangements for the reception of Charles Evans Hughes when he speaks here next Wednesday, National Committeeman V. L. Highland was asked to state to the club the details of Mr. Hughes's visit.

Mr. Highland announced that Mr. Hughes would make but one speaking tour in West Virginia during the campaign and would speak in only four towns; namely, Clarksburg, Parkersburg, Huntington and Charleston.

Owing to the strain on the candidate, no speeches would be made in the small towns along the route but the energies of Mr. Hughes would be conserved for the set speeches in the above named cities.

The next question before the club was where Mr. Hughes should speak and it was believed that as much of the time as possible should be given to the speech, and it was inadvisable that any time be taken in carrying the candidate back and forth through the crowded streets of the city. On motion of W. T. B. Clemm it was decided that arrangements would be made for Mr. Hughes to speak at the Baltimore and Ohio station and that a platform would be erected there for him. The large expanse of Baltimore street will enable 10,000 or more people to hear the candidate.

Sherman C. Denham moved that five committees—reception, platform, music, order and ladies—be appointed, and President Hoffman asked Mr. K. Richards, Roy E. Parrish and V. L. Highland to come forward and assist the president and secretary in naming the committees, which were announced as follows:

Reception—V. L. Highland, Col. Henry Haymond, Senator Nathan Goff, W. H. Taylor, Lucius Hoge, Jr., Bradley Reynolds, A. J. Martin, C. B. Maple, Frank Caville, E. W. Eakin, S. P. Milstead, Robert Morris, D. H. Kyle, H. C. Huffman, J. R. Flint, G. H. Gordon, and G. W. Dudderar.

Platform—L. K. Richards, Guy Lyons, H. U. Crummit, John M. Flannigan, John Sopher, Dr. D. C. Louchery, B. Merendino, John O'Day, B. F. Robinson, George N. Kollman, John T. Flynn, Tom Jones, James A. L. Day, Fred Howard, C. W. Furber and Claude Ryan.

Music—Howard L. Cunningham, H. A. Russell, W. G. Meeks, W. G. Osborn, W. T. B. Clemm, N. S. Longabaugh, H. H. Davis, Aaron Wilson, A. J. Roland, L. Harper Rogers, John Romish, Thomas Patton, J. W. Carter, Charles L. Patton, Harry Douds, and R. D. Wilson, Sr.

could be relied upon to get him safely across, it was surely wise to trade as quickly as possible.

L. K. Richards, in a few remarks, which made the hall ring with applause, said he had decided to take an active interest in politics this year because the way the Democratic administration had handled the affairs of this country had made him feel ashamed of his country and ashamed that he was an American citizen. He hoped that all Americans would rally together to end the term of Democratic mismanagement and return the government of country to the tried and true Republican party, so that America could again hold up her head among the nations of the earth and every man could feel proud of his citizenship in this country.

CANTATA

Is Rendered in the Colored Trinity Church on Ben Street in Brilliant Way.

Ruth, a sacred cantata, by Alfred R. Gaul from his work 34, was well rendered at Trinity church, Ben street, last night. The cantata is in two parts. Part one presents Naomi and her daughters-in-law in the country of Moab on the road to Bethlehem. Part two represents a scene in the harvest field at the abode of Naomi and at the gate of Bethlehem. The characters were Naomi, contralto, Miss Martha Madison; Ruth, soprano, Miss Amelia Lowry; Orpah, alto, Miss Florence Ruffin; Boaz, bass, Dr. W. A. Johnson. Besides were elders, hand maidens, reapers, etc., represented by sopranos, altos, tenors and basses. There was a large and appreciative audience present. Mrs. Florence R. Carroll directed the singing while Miss M. Ophelia Washington was the pianist.
